

Cindy Wither

Watercolor Artist

Cindy Wither has lived in Steamboat Springs for almost 40 years and remains inspired by the color, light and beauty that each season brings. She is a retired art teacher having taught art in both private and public schools (elementary-collage) since 1972. Her teaching journey has taken her to various states - Idaho, Colorado, Arizona and countries - Berlin, Germany and Lusaka, Zambia.

Her work reflects the beauty of the Yampa Valley landscapes, historical structures and the sights and flavors she encountered while living and traveling to various countries.

Cindy has enjoyed painting in watercolors and other water based media and over the years has attended a number of workshops taught by the following artists - Skip Lawrence, Stephen Quiller, Dennis Pendleton, Mary Levingston, Joan Hoffman and Chula Beauregard. She has shown her artwork locally at the Steamboat Springs Depot/Steamboat Springs Arts Council, Center for Visual Arts, Creekside Restaurant,

City Cafe and Tread of the Pioneer Museum.

Currently some of her work will be displayed at the Tread of the Pioneer Museum, from May 2 - December 2, 2018 in a group show titled "An Artist's View: Cultural & Heritage Landscapes of Northwest Colorado.
