SELECTED BIOGRAPHIES:

The Baer family arrived in Routt County in April 1891. Charles E. Baer ran a sporting goods store, managed the Hugus & Co. store, and operated a gun shop in Steamboat Springs. He married into the Woolery family, Yampa Valley ranchers.

The Beelers were pioneer ranchers in the Yampa Valley.

The Bergens arrived in Routt County in 1880.

The Borghi family were Steamboat Springs pioneers who arrived in Routt County in the 1880's.

John R. Burroughs is a local author and historian who wrote Where the Old West Stayed Young, among other titles.

Horace Button was a skier from Hot Sulphur Springs who was friends with Carl Howelsen.

A.H. Chivington moved to Yampa in 1906; from 1909-1911 he operated a livery in Steamboat Springs. He served as sheriff and county commissioner.

The Gooding family included Judge Gooding, who was active in the local ski club.

Charles Leckenby edited and published The Pilot, Steamboat Springs' newspaper. His son, Maurice, also worked at the paper.

Claude Luekens ran a Chrysler-Plymouth dealership in Steamboat Springs. He also started the non-profit Health and Recreation Association, served 16 years as mayor, and developed the ski lift at Howelsen Hill.

Marcellus Merrill was a local ski jumper and inventor.

Marjorie Perry was born in Steamboat Springs, went to Smith College, and returned to Steamboat, where she was an avid skier. She met Carl Howelsen in Hot Sulphur Springs and, impressed with his jumping, convinced him to come to Steamboat, where he established Steamboat's Winter Carnival. Perry pursued many outdoor sports and was the lifelong companion of Eleanor Bliss.

Sureva Towler wrote a book, The History of Skiing at Steamboat Springs. She received many letters from old-time skiers relating their memories and experiences regarding the sport and its development. Towler's file contains several of these letters, from figures like Horace Button, Glen Armstrong and Rex Gill, among others.

John "Doc" Utterback was a well-known veterinarian, politician and rancher. He received his early education in Routt County and earned an advanced degrees from Colorado State and Iowa State. He served as county commissioner for eight years. His daughter, Karin Utterback Normann donated the family home to the Tread of Pioneers Museum in 1997.

Frederick E. Willett was the county doctor and ran the Steamboat Springs hospital for 34 years. He was mayor from 1920-1926.

SCOPE AND CONTENTS OF COLLECTION:

Most of these documents were given to the Tread of Pioneers individually, rather than as complete collections. For this reason, the papers were identified by creator and grouped as a collection of individuals. The papers include personal letters, historical accounts, sketches and drawings, diaries and journals, mementos, postcards, personal finance papers, scholastic certificates, greeting cards, cookbooks and recipe cards, and newspaper clippings. The documents shed light on individuals' lives as well as regional developments in skiing, pioneer life, land transactions, businesses, and social interactions.
