BIOGRAPHY: This collection represents immediate family members from the Werner family of Steamboat Springs, which consist of:

Edward Bernard "Pop" Werner (1905-1970): Ed came to Steamboat Springs in 1912 with his family to run a ranch. Ed worked at CCC camps, the family ranch, put up hay, hauled coal, and was an employee for Larson Transportation Co. for twenty years. He was a 23-year member of the volunteer fire department, a Kiwanis club member, president of Winter Sports Club (1946), and a National Jumping judge. He and his wife Hazie raised three children, all Olympian ski racers.

Hazel Mae "Hazie" Ralston Werner (1911-1993), grew up on a homestead near Yellow Jacket Pass north Meeker, CO. Her father Wallace Ralston, a stage driver, and mother Neva Jones Ralston had ten children (two sisters were also notable Steamboat citizens, Benita Bristol and Ruby Heid). Hazie married Pop in 1931 and the family moved from the ranch on Elk River to their home at 8th and Aspen St. in 1950 in order for the three children to attend school in Steamboat. Hazie helped to support the family and the kids skiing by cleaning houses, working at the laundry, the bakery, swimming pool, and for 19 years at Boys Market. She was a renowned cook, hostess and long-time proprietor of the Winter Sports Club's concession stands. She and daughter Skeeter managed the Storm Hut sporting goods store for a number of years. Hazie learned to ski at age 62, received a new horse for her 80th birthday, and continued working until her death at age 81. The Steamboat Ski area named a popular gourmet restaurant, located on the top of Storm Mountain, after her. A life-size bronze statue of her sits at the Bud Werner Memorial Library, and the Steamboat Ski area's annual Hazie Werner Award of Excellence honors outstanding women in the community each year.

Gladys "Skeeter" Werner Walker (1933-2008), the oldest of the Werner children, Skeeter learned to ski at age one. In high school she was the "Queen of the Junior Nationals circuit." In 1954, Skeeter became the youngest FIS Alpine Team member, she was the North American Champion at the 1955 California Sugar Bowl and was an Olympic Alpine Team member in 1956; she placed 10th in downhill. Following her ski career, Skeeter was a "Girl Friday" for Madame Eleanora Garnett's exclusive international fashion house in New York City. She starred in tv commercials, recorded an album of ski exercises (avail. in digital format in the museum's collection), and designed upscale sportswear for Gordon Ford on the 79th floor of the Empire State Building. Skeeter returned to Steamboat Springs in 1962 to organize the first ski school at the newly formed Storm Mountain Ski Corp. and managed the first ski rental and sales shop, Storm Hut (a second shop opened later on Lincoln Ave.) The ski shop and sporting goods shop on Lincoln were renamed Werner Hut in 1979. Skeeter married Texan Doak Walker in 1969. Skeeter was inducted into the Colorado Ski Hall of Fame in 1984. Wallace “Buddy” Werner (1936-1964), was posthumously inducted into the National Ski Hall of Fame in 1964, the Colorado Ski Hall of Fame in 1977, and the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 1967. Werner is fondly referred to as “Steamboat’s son”, he is the most decorated athlete the town has produced (each accolade will not be listed in this brief bio.). Buddy was a FIS Alpine team member in 1954, 1958, and 1962, he was a U.S. Olympic team member in 1956, 1960, and 1964. He won the Holmenkollen in Norway three times, recording the best showing by an American skier ever in international competition and the first American male skier to win a major European title. Buddy was the subject of a documentary and book of the same title, “I Never Look Back”. Buddy also was an innovator in ski technology and ski race apparel. In March of 1964 Buddy joined 17 international skiers in St. Mortiz, Switzerland to film a ski documentary for Willie Bogner. An avalanche was set off and killed Buddy and Barbi Henneberger. Following Buddy’s death, Steamboat ski area, Storm Mountain was renamed Mt. Werner in 1965, the University of Colorado (where Buddy attended) established the Buddy Werner Memorial Scholarship Foundation, and the Bud Werner Memorial Library was built in Steamboat Springs in 1967.

Loris Werner (1941-), like his brother, Loris started as a ski jumper and transitioned into ski racing. Loris was an Olympic team member in 1964 (as an alternate in jumping) and in 1968 on the Alpine team. He won the National Downhill Championships in 1967, and both jumping and downhill championships at Junior Nationals in 1958. He served as the Vice President of Operations at the Steamboat Ski Area for approximately 20 years, the Mountain Manager (1981-84), and Ski School Director (1969-81).

SCOPE AND CONTENTS OF COLLECTION: The collection is comprised mainly of magazines and newspaper clippings of Buddy Werner. A large volume of scrapbooks created by Hazie Werner and Buddy’s wife Vonda Werner chronical Werner’s skiing career. A collection of 40 8 and 16mm home movie films depict family camping and hunting trips in surrounding mountains, ski competitions, and annual Winter Carnival events in Steamboat Springs. 3D objects such as jackets, sweaters, trophies, and skis complete the collection.
